Our History

Spahr's Seafood Restaurant was founded in 1968 on the outskirts of New Orleans in the small fishing community of Des Allemands. The surrounding bayous provided the seafood that founder Bill Spahr used to develop Spahr's Seafood Restaurant into an icon in southern Louisiana. Still locally owned and operated by family and friends, Spahr's Seafood Restaurant strives to use the freshest local seafood and server our guests with genuine hospitality.

Over the years, Spahr's Seafood Restaurant became known for three signature items: "The Original" Catfish Chips, World famous Bloody Marys, and Seafood Gumbo. Tragically, the original restaurant in Des Allemands was lost to a kitchen fire in November 2002.

In 2003, Spahr's Downtown was opened in Thibodaux. This location had great success and has provided the cornerstone for the continual growth and rebirth of the Spahr's brand. Expanding its menu to include breakfast has locals gathering daily to the downtown hotspot.

In 2006, Spahr's Seafood rebuilt in Des Allemands on the exact slab where the original restaurant burned. Complete with scenic views of Bayou Des Allemands and its original recipes, the location remains as popular as ever. The restaurant is regularly reviewed as a "must stop".

In 2016, Spahr's at the Station was opened in Galliano to serve the communities of lower Lafourche. Serving breakfast, lunch and dinner, this location continues the companies values with a commitment to culinary excellence and delivering hospitality at its highest level.
